We do not have an on-site IT person, but Mike is about as close as you can get. Mike has been an IT consultant for Bennett Engineering for many years. He has shown the talent and the qualifications of an excellent consultant by providing accurate, instinctive and workable solutions to any situations that arise. Whether he is running network cables, updating system software, repairing our systems or outfitting our entire office with new computers, Mike is always available and eager to help. His response time to any call or email has always been exceptionally prompt. Mike is very knowledgeable of the latest changes in the technology world and makes informed recommendations for the specific applications.

We have been very pleased with Mike and plan to continue to utilize his services for years to come.
